“Working with Hannah and the HCA team has opened our eyes to so many vital issues around our work and the broader connection of Wales with Africa... It feels like we’re gaining momentum and seeing quite rapid progress. For example, we raised over £7,000 in our first ever online campaign, recruited two new trustees, improved our governance process and formed closer relationships with our Ugandan partners.”

The Hub Cymru Africa Advance programme is open to any Wales-based international-development organisations working in solidarity with African partners, and Fair Trade groups, to support innovative solutions for communities living in poverty and campaigns which continue to connect with people in Wales.

If you want to refine, rethink, expand or improve what you do, then the Advance programme could be for you with its in-depth approach to working together over a year.

It is completely flexible and can include a range of activities to support you, including advancing your communication skills; improving financial and risk management; enhancing strategy and governance; developing new fundraising skills; partnership and needs assessments; monitoring evaluation accountability and learning activities; anti-racist approaches or campaign design.

- You and at least one other representative could co-develop with Hub Cymru Africa a joint activity plan to implement over the next year to achieve your goal
- You are committed to working together on a month-by-month basis over a year to achieve your goal(s), whether that's attending conferences, training or co-producing through virtual meetings with your mentor
- You want to work in collaboration with a mentor to reach productive solutions and are open to feedback, new ideas and productive criticism (Your mentor's role is to listen, clarify, reflect, challenge and give feedback to support you be effective within your organisation).

About your organisation

- Your organisation or group is based in Wales
- You have a partner organisation which you work with in Sub-Saharan Africa or, you run a Fair Trade campaign in Wales
- You have experience of delivering projects with your African partner and a current partnership agreement, or you have delivered a Fair Trade campaign in Wales
- You have appropriate governance arrangements in place

Please don't apply if:

- You only want the financial support and do not want to participate in the co-production and mentoring aspects of the programme.

- Your project will be undertaking any party political or proselytising activities.

What time commitment does the Advance programme require?

This mentoring programme has been established to Advance the capacity of organisations in Wales working on global solidarity programmes in Africa. It's funded by the Welsh Government and managed by Hub Cymru Africa.

This programme aims to enhance established organisations' success through dedicated access to support, a capacity building grant and professional advice.

"Following a year of support and encouragement from our expert mentor, we are looking forwards to coming out of the programme with a better finance management system, links to other networks, and more generally the motivation and ability to do what we do better!"

Tabitha Ndiaye, Niokolo Network

As well as working with one key individual throughout the year, there are moments within the Advance programme which will require broader engagement and the support of other members of your organisation, group or board. These include for example, the initial organisational governance review, the action planning session to define what you will achieve throughout the year, and the mid-term review, or to add capacity to enhance what you can achieve. For example, you might ask another trustee to lead on a safeguarding or partnership review.

The total time commitment will depend upon which Advance programme you join and your ambition and drive.

The Advance programme includes three meetings with you and your chair (or 2nd applicant) to shape and define your activities for the year. In addition, you'll have shared activities to work together on discrete pieces of work required to achieve your ambition. Plus, should you choose to engage with new volunteers; you'll need to spend time with management and induction sessions for them. Advance Light and Campaigner could include all these components but will be less intensive in terms of delivery and co-production.

There will also networking opportunities throughout the year for the mentoring cohort and a final celebration session with other Advance alumni to reflect on what you have achieved and to mark your progress through the programme.

The financial grant will help develop your organisation and work towards your goal throughout the year.

Financial Support

Up to £750 (or up to £375 for Advance Light and Advance Campaigner) is available to support the delivery of activities against your action plan. What it could be spent upon depends upon your own unique goals and ambitions, e.g. training, professional advice or marketing and communications services.

The Grant can only be spent upon relevant activities to support the delivery of your agreed plan. The money will need to be spent on activities within the financial year you begin your mentoring; so all expenditure before March 2022.

You should identify how you want to spend the funds as part of your application and this will form part of your initial action planning meeting. However, these ideas can be modified at a later date with agreement from your mentor and the Development Support Team.

If you don't know yet how you want to spend the grant, that's fine to say too, it will not affect your application but can instead be defined through the action planning and first quarter of the programme.

What we can fund	What we can't fund
Costs to participate in the Advance programme activities including travel and subsistence	Existing staff salaries
Training activities and costs	Office overheads
Activities related to your activity plan (which could include website and communications activity)	Proselytising or party political activities
Events	Assets more than £500 which don't contribute directly to your activity plan
Volunteer expenses
Other items you can show are relevant to the development of your project.

How will the financial support be paid?

The financial support will be budgeted against activities through the year, and how the money will be accessed will depend upon you and your activity plan. In liaison with your mentor, you will need to present a brief written outline for the expenditure and this will be presented to the wider mentoring team of Development Support Managers within Hub Cymru Africa for approval.

In most cases, the money will be paid directly from Hub Cymru Africa to the suppliers, consultants or the agreed service provider against a Terms of Reference or Contract developed in partnership with your mentor.

Things to think about

The aim of the financial component of the Advance scheme is to increase the capacity and sustainability of your organisation by facilitating you to spend on things which you would not normally fundraise for or consider as part of your standard operations. It is not a cash donation to your organisation.

Therefore, it is recommended that a budget is developed in partnership with the mentor, mentee and your board of trustees. And that you and your board put serious consideration to justifying how each line of the budget meets the objectives of Capacity Building and Sustainability.

An example of which would be: the cost of a training course, plus travel expenses to that training.

Fundraising training for Board	£350.00	to be paid directly by HCA
Travel expenses (petrol at £0.45/mile)	£20.00	to be paid to your organisational bank account

Please note that the budget can be reconsidered through the mentoring year in response to your priorities and needs.

“As a result of participating in the programme we successfully applied for grant funding and recruited excellent new trustees to our board. It was a thoroughly rewarding and worthwhile experience which we would do all over again if we got the chance!”
